CHANGES ARE PROPOSED FOR EUROPEAN AID

DRAIN ON AMERICAN FOOD SUPPLY MAY BE EASED UP

Washington, Jan. 31 (P)—Two new proposals for major changes in the European recovery program were tossed today into the congressional foreign aid debate.

One would switch the whole emphasis of the program, to give the United States administrator—and Congress—greater control over how the money is used.

The other is intended to ease the strain on this country's food supply by letting Latin America ship food to Europe in exchange for United States machinery.

Must Help Themselves

Eighteen Republican senators agreed at a meeting late last night that the program should be used to "finance projects, not deficits."

They said they favored a change which would compel the 16 Marshall plan nations to submit specific recovery projects to the U. S. administrator, who could either accept or reject them.

Senator Ball (R-Minn.), spokesman for the group, said the administrator would be directed to hold back aid that might be used for nationalization or socialization of industry—or for "expensive" social security systems which would "dead-end" incentive.

As the Marshall plan stands now, the Minnesota senator said, the United States would "underwrite European trade deficits." (A trade deficit exists when a nation loses money by importing more than it exports.)

The present plan, he added, would give the European countries almost complete control over how the money is used.

The program developed by the 18 Republicans would give that power to the administrator, who would be responsible to Congress, rather than the state department.

Barter System Praised

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee said in a Lancaster, Pa., speech last night that "We can accomplish as much with half the sum proposed" if the administrator is authorized to control the spending of the aid money.

The plan to make European aid easier on the United States by setting up a barter system with Latin America was suggested yesterday by C. A. Barre, industrial engineer and American Legion director, told the Senate foreign relations committee that under his proposal—

"We keep our dollars at home, we provide jobs at home, and we get the food we need to send to Europe without straining our own economy."

Members of the committee listened with frank approval.

When Barre had finished testifying, Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Senators Connally (D-Tex.), Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), George (D-Ga.), and Capper (R-Kas.) all praised his suggestion.

Demotion Of Eccles By Truman Branded Political Maneuver

Washington, Jan. 31 (P)—Senator Tobey (R-NH) said today he thinks he can prove President Truman demoted Marriner S. Eccles for "political" reasons.

Tobey said he has a hot lead, at least, which indicates that as why the Utah banker was asked to give up the chairmanship of the Federal Reserve.

The senator added he hopes to be able to dispel the mystery at a hearing of the banking committee which he heads.

Tobey told reporters he thinks Senator Taft (R-Ohio) may have figured out part of the answer. Taft said at Lancaster, Pa., last night that Eccles probably got the axe for telling Congress the government should spend less money.

"I believe, however," Tobey said, "that the controlling factor is political."

The banking committee will have to pass on Mr. Truman's nomination of Eccles' successor, Thomas M. McCabe of Philadelphia.

But first, Tobey said, he is going to finish his private inquiry into the President's motive for the change. He said this may take "some time."

Mr. Truman told his news conference Thursday nobody influenced his decision. He would not say why he made the move and he commented that Congress can't investigate the President.

Eccles has agreed to step down to vice chairman. This will leave the way open for Mr. Truman to appoint McCabe as chairman when the Senate confirms him.

In spite of Tobey's attitude, indications are that the Senate will okay the nomination. McCabe is chairman of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Board.

MEAT SHORTAGE NOT IMMINENT

Ample Supply Predicted; Rationing Won't Work, Senate Is Told

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Jan. 31 (P)—The American Meat Institute declared today fears of a serious meat shortage are unfounded.

R. J. Eggert, associate director of the institute's marketing department, told a Senate banking subcommittee.

"The supply of meat per person next spring and summer will be about one-half an ounce less than last year, but there will be more meat per person during this period than before the war."

The agriculture department has forecast that a severe shortage will develop in the spring and grow worse during the summer.

The subcommittee is considering a bill by Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) which would let the government get ready for meat rationing. It would be up to Congress to decide whether to put the program into effect later.

"Meat rationing will not work, but would only create black markets and discourage production so that the supply of meat into 1949 would be even shorter," Eggert said in his prepared statement.

As an alternative, he suggested that consumers "be more moderate in their demands and exercise restraints." He added:

"If all of us do this, there will be enough meat at prices most people consider reasonable."

Girl Steals Purses In Chicago Churches

Chicago, Jan. 31 (P)—Pearl Stewart, 19, who admitted she went to church to steal purses—always at the most solemn parts of the service—was sentenced to jail for six months and placed on probation for two years in felony court yesterday.

Judge Charles S. Dougherty told the girl that "Although the law is designed to give first offenders another chance, yours is a cold blooded enterprise."

"You maliciously chose the most solemn moments of the mass to steal; moments when the minds of the worshippers are far from worldly things. This not only was a crime, it was sacrilege."

Bride of 3 Months Shot In Wash Tub; Husband Gets Life

Uniontown, Pa., Jan. 31 (P)—It's life imprisonment for 21-year-old James Townsend who only wanted to wound his wife in the shoulder "to scare her to bring back her affection" but ended up killing her.

Fayette County Judge H. Vance Cotton fixed Townsend's sentence yesterday after the ex-married pleaded guilty.

Townsend testified he pointed a rifle at his bride of three months as she bathed in a wash tub. She was an expectant mother.

Gen. Royce Appointed Director Of Michigan Economic Commission

Lansing, Jan. 31 (P)—Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce, retired Army career man and former commandant at Selfridge Field, today prepared to take over as managing director of the new state economic development commission at $9,500 a year.

He was appointed yesterday by the commission, which at the same time, named Don C. Weeks, former director of the defunct state planning commission, as administrative director at $8,500 annually.

Thus the new commission had already pledged $18,000 of its $75,000 appropriation, and Vice Chairman Gervase T. Murphy of Calumet outlined commission plans for hiring experts to head proposed research and development divisions. Salaries of these officials have not been decided, Murphy added.

Royce, a native of Marquette who spent his boyhood in Hancock, said he had "lots of ideas" to bring to his new position, but declared "I have to study myself into the situation before I do much talking about it."

George R. Averill, executive secretary to Governor Sigler, indicated the appointments would be acceptable to the executive office.

"The governor's attitude," Averill said, "is to stand back of the decision of his commission."

During Sigler's recent vacation, Averill announced the appointment of Victor Rotterus, resident director of the University of Michigan Social Science Research Project at Flint, as managing director of the commission, only to retract the announcement in a few hours when the commission would not confirm it.

Earlier, Week's continuation in any but a minor capacity with the new commission was considered to be coldly received in the executive office. Week's unpopularity with the legislature was said to be one of the contributing factors to the lawmakers' elimination of the old commission.

Royce entered the Army with his enrollment in West Point Military Academy March 1, 1910. He was commander at Selfridge

PLANE WRECKS TAKE 21 LIVES

Only One Man Survives Two American Flying Disasters In France

Digne, France, Jan. 31 (P)—Discovery of 12 bodies in the wreckage of an air force transport today brought to 21 the total known dead in two United States airplane crashes in southern France.

Reports reached here that searchers had found the bodies of three American women, five children and four crewmen where the first plane fell. The crash occurred near a village in the French Alps. The craft was a C-47.

The second plane, a B-17 Flying Fortress, went down and exploded on a search for the transport. Police said one man in its crew of 10 survived.

Both planes struck within a 20-mile radius of Digne, which is about 75 miles northeast of Marseille.

The twin-engine transport had been missing since Tuesday on a flight from Istres airbase, near Marseille, to Udine, Italy. It was taking the women and children toward Trieste to join their husbands and fathers, servicemen.

Ground searchers reached the wreckage of both planes yesterday. They brought out only one survivor. He is Sgt. Angelo A. Lasalle (believed to be from Des Moines, Iowa). Lasalle suffered partly frozen legs, bruises and internal injuries.

EASTERN HALF OF U. S. A. GETS SHIVERS AGAIN

BITING COLD CUTS INTO DWINDLING FUEL SUPPLIES

Chicago, Jan. 31 (P)—A severe cold wave gripped a wide section of the eastern half of the country today, cutting deeper into dwindling fuel supplies and curtailing operations in more gas-dependent industries.

Bitting cold extended from mid-west areas to northern New England. Freezing rain and sleet and lower temperatures were general throughout the southeastern part of the country.

Meanwhile, as communities in many sections of the country reported acute fuel shortages, the government ordered an 18½ per cent reduction in fuel oil and gasoline exports because of the "serious shortage" at home.

New York Near Zero

Already more than 250,000 workers, including 200,000 in the Detroit area, are idle due to shutdowns of industrial plants because of curtailment of gas.

The mercury dipped to zero and as low as 25 below over the New England area with some communities reporting the season's lowest temperatures. The low was -41 at Mount Washington, Mass., and Boston's -3 was the lowest in three years.

There were sub-zero marks, also, in the middle Atlantic states, and the lower Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were near the zero mark in New York City early today—the coldest of the winter season. Thermometers registered 2 above from the minimum of 1947-48, surpassing the previous low of 5 above recorded last Saturday.

Hundreds of families in the nation's largest city suffered from the fresh mass of cold because of insufficient fuel for heating homes. The city has asked 86 oil terminal dealers to remain open over the weekend to supply oil to hardship cases. Department stores in the Metropolis reported increased sales of earmuffs and heavy clothing.

France Gathers Up 5000-Franc Notes, No Good By Tuesday

By Robert Emswiler

Paris, Jan. 31 (P)—French banks, post offices and tax collectors today began taking in 5,000-franc notes, no longer legal tender. Gold seemed about to go on the free market.

The notes must be turned in by Tuesday. After that they will be no good. The collection follows action by parliament.

The finance ministry said last night owners of the bills will be repaid. But a ministry source said persons who can't show legal sources for their holdings face either confiscation or loss of a high percentage of the amount held.

Approximately 66,000,000 (million) notes of the 5,000-franc denomination have been in circulation. They are worth, at the new rate of exchange (214 francs to the dollar), about $23.50 each, or all told, some $1,540,000,000 (billion).

Banks were ordered to remain open all day today and Sunday. The move to block holding of notes of large denomination was aimed at catching black market operators and hoarders, said to hold half such bills.

Not since Sept. 9, 1939, has gold been exchanged legally in France. When World War II was a week old a decree was issued forbidding all sales and trading of gold.

Ice Traps Fish Tug; Plane Brings Food

Chicago, Jan. 31 (P)—Three crewmen aboard the fishing tug Julia M. unable to make port because of heavy Lake Michigan shore ice, received food today by airplane.

The food was dropped from a plane sent over the small vessel by the Waukegan News-Sun, a daily newspaper. The boat was icebound off Waukegan, 30 miles north of here.

Meanwhile, it looked as though the Julia M. and her crew would have to wait some time to get home, unless ice at the harbor mouth breaks up of its own accord or the fishermen decide to risk the old craft's planking by bucking the floe.

Jury Frees Detroit Officer Of Murder

Pontiac, Mich., Jan. 31 (P)—Harry Engleby, suspended police detective, was acquitted today of a second degree murder charge in the slaying of a man who he felt was "over friendly" with Mrs. Engleby.

Attractive Mrs. Sarah Engleby, 34, was the jury of 10 women and two men returned its verdict. The jurors, several of them weeping, crowded about the suspended policeman and shook his hand.

Orville Wright, 76, Airplane Inventor Dies At Dayton, O.

BY KEN DAVIS

Dayton, O., Jan. 31 (P)—Death came to Orville Wright last night 44 years after he put wings on the world with the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine.

The 76-year-old co-inventor of the airplane died in his sleep under an oxygen tent at Miami Valley Hospital at 10:40 p. m.

Dr. A. B. Brower, his physician, said Wright succumbed to a lung congestion and coronary arteriosclerosis, a heart disease.

The world's pioneer aviator entered the hospital last Tuesday after suffering his second heart attack of recent months. He recovered rapidly from a first attack Oct. 10, 1947.

The aged scientist took a turn for the worse Wednesday night when a lung congestion, held staunchly for a few hours early yesterday and then sank slowly into a coma that preceded death.

Orville Wright was born in Dayton, Aug. 19, 1871, the son of Bishop Milton Wright of the United Brethren church. Ministerial careers were planned for both Orville and his older brother, Wilbur, but a spinner toy from their father changed this.

The little gadget, fashioned from cork, bamboo and paper, formed two screws which were driven in opposite directions by rubber bands. This was the inspiration for their later experiments into powered flight.

With maturity, they built a wind tunnel and hung crude wood and metal frameworks within, much in the manner aerodynamicists are studied even today. On Dec. 17, 1903, they flew.

Orville first took their home-made contraption of wood, wire and cloth aloft. He traveled 120 feet in 12 seconds in the air. Man had been given successful wings.

Orville and Wilbur, who died in 1912, made four flights that day, alternating at the controls. Once Wilbur stayed up 59 seconds and swooped 852 feet across the dunes of sand.

RUSSIA MAKING WAR, SAYS AFL

American Labor Group Calls For Stronger U. S. Defenses

By HAROLD B. WARD

Miami, Fla., Jan. 31 (P)—The American Federation of Labor bluntly accused Soviet Russia of deliberately antagonizing the United States and of preparing for an offensive war.

The statement last night was the first direct attack on a foreign power by an American labor group and called for an immediate strengthening of U. S. defenses.

AFL President William Green and the 15-member policy making executive council declared the forces of Generalissimo Stalin believe that once the American way of life is destroyed, there will be no effective resistance of "complete Communist enslavement."

The statement was issued shortly after Maj. Gen. O. P. Weyland, chief of Air Force plans and operations, sought labor support for "an adequate air arm."

Although not ready to endorse fully universal military training, the AFL leaders offered cooperation in building up the armed forces.

"Despite the iron curtain, there is still abundant evidence that Russia has not taken a single step toward disarmament since the end of the war," the statement read. "In fact, all her economic and industrial resources are being feverishly mobilized for the forging of new military striking power."

"These measures cannot be regarded as merely national defense measures. They are obviously preparations for offensive warfare."

In the Senate, though, even the Republicans admit the $6,500,000,000 slash provided by the Knutson bill will be trimmed. This will be a bid for Democratic help to override the expected presidential veto by the necessary two-thirds majority.

The Republican measure would raise individual exemptions from $500 to $600, let married couples in all states split their income for tax reporting purposes, and cut taxes besides by percentages ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest income brackets to 10 per cent in the highest.

No Treaty Broken By U. S. Warships, Italy Tells Russia

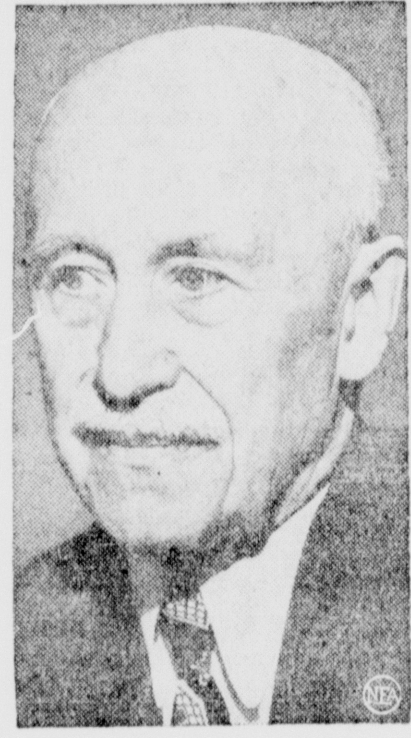

Rome, Jan. 31 (P)—The Italian government took issue today with Russian protests that the presence of American warships in Italian ports violate the Italian peace treaty.

A foreign ministry spokesman said the Soviet Union had not "given due importance" to the fact the ship visits are in every way in "normal practice."

Italy has authorized the calls, he said, and is disposed "to receive with equal cordiality visits of ships of any other nation."

Fruitport, Mich., Jan. 31 (P)—Fifty pupils were led to safety by their teacher yesterday when fire broke out in the rural Cloverville school shortly before noon recess. Damage was estimated at $100.

FUNERAL PYRE LIT BY HINDU LEADER'S SON

ASSASSIN DENIED BAIL; MENACE OF RIOTING LOOMS

BY G. MILTON KELLY

New Delhi, India, Jan. 31 (P)—Mohandas K. Gandhi's youngest son touched off the funeral pyre that consumed the wasted body of the martyred Mahatma today in the Hindu tradition.

Tens of thousands of Indians, sobbing and shouting the Mahatma's name, surged forward as Devadas Gandhi, heavy with grief, placed live coals on the pyre just above his father's heart and set ablaze the lower portion of sandalwood logs.

A tremendous sobbing chant surged from the crowd—a Hindu hymn for India's prophet of peace, who was struck down last night by an assassin's bullet as he went to a prayer meeting. In rising unison, the crowd chanted the prayers of the last rites as police struggled to restrain the grieving people.

Crowds Burn Buildings

Devadas Gandhi's face was taut with the strain as he applied the coals. The sandalwood cracked. Smoke spiraled heavenward.

The Mahatma's ashes are to remain at the pyre, on the banks of the river Jumna, for a day and a half. Then they are to be gathered and taken to the River Ganges—sacred to his Hindu faith—and thrown into the waters in the manner traditional with Hindus.

India was gripped with fear of what may come in the wake of Gandhi's violent death. Rioting in Bombay, which took 15 lives yesterday, subsided somewhat, but in Poona, the office of an extremist Hindu newspaper was burned.

Sullen Poona crowds attacked the property of persons known to have opposed Gandhi. Tilak Memorial hall was set afire as crowds searched for anyone possibly connected with the assassin. Bombay police arrested five persons suspected of being implicated.

New Delhi police disclosed that Gandhi's accused assassin had been arraigned secretly and held without bail for investigation of murder. He was arraigned under the name of Narayan Vinayak Gadse of Poona. The 25-year-old assassin had pumped bullets into Gandhi's chest and leg at close range.

Children Trampled

The procession to the Jumna river was tumultuous all the way. At one point, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was reported to have rescued

VETS HOUSING TEST PLANNED

To Install New Floors;
Insulate Walls In One Unit

The Federal Housing Authority will finance improved insulation of a test unit at the veterans housing project in Escanaba this winter and if the experiment works out satisfactorily, all units will be given similar treatment next summer, it has been announced.

John Erickson, chairman of the Escanaba housing committee, conferred this week with federal officials in Chicago, pointing out the difficulties that have been encountered by tenants at the local housing project this winter.

All units will be improved as rapidly as possible to the extent of new floors. The present floors are uninsulated and consist of comparatively thin plywood. Two layers of felt will be laid over the plywood and a softwood floor installed. The Federal Housing Authority has authorized the local committee to make these improvements with funds received from rental.

The test unit will be equipped with blown mineral insulation in the walls, which are of two-inch thickness. The sheathing is of metal. The veterans units are two-family structures and in conducting the experiment of the efficiency of the wall insulation, only one apartment will be insulated. The unit to be selected for the experiment will be one in which the heating bills of the two families in the unit have been approximately equal. In this manner it will be possible to accurately gauge the efficiency of the insulation to be installed in one half of the building.

If the tests show that heating costs will be materially reduced as a result of the insulation, the government agency has agreed to finance the insulation of all of the remaining units at the project next summer.

City officials have emphasized, however, that because of the metal roofs which are impossible to seal lightly without welding, an expensive operation, there is no way in which the leakage from driving rain or snow into the attic can be eliminated.

There are nearly 100,000 garages, service stations, and automotive repair shops in the United States.

Nicaragua is about the same size as Michigan.

Community Institute Here On Feb. 18 And 19

An "Our Community Tomorrow" institute will be held in Escanaba Feb. 18-19 under the sponsorship of the University of Michigan Extension Service with the cooperation of the Department of Public Instruction and Michigan State college. Charles Gessner is chairman of Escanaba's conference committee.

The Upper Peninsula has been divided into three areas for these conferences and, since last November, the committees have met several times to plan these institutes. Scott Ste. Marie will hold its institute Feb. 16-17 and Iron Mountain Feb. 20-21.

Assisting Gessner with the conference planning work are representatives of all governmental units in the county and representatives from each segment of the population.

Arthur Bromage, of the political science faculty of the University of Michigan, will be special consultant to the section on local government; William G. Robinson, of the University of Michigan Extension staff, formerly a member of the National Recreation association in New York City, will be special consultant in the field of recreation; John Hyde, planning specialist of the University of Michigan school of architecture, will consult with the group on community planning; Guy S. Hill, professor of education in Michigan State college, will be the opening speaker and consultant; and Professor Harold Dorr, of the political science faculty of the University of Michigan, will be special consultant on community organization and government.

Consultants will arrive Feb. 17 and will tour Escanaba and confer with community leaders until Wednesday, Feb. 18, at noon when the conference will open with a general meeting at 1:30. Guy S. Hill will speak then on the purpose of the institute.

Arrest Follows Theft Of Gift To Finland

Theft of a package of clothing mailed by Miss Eva Flemstrom of Escanaba to Frau Anne Nisen, Vasa, Overmark, Finland, resulted in the arrest of two Chicago men, Herman Lynn, age 46 and Earl Nettles, 42. Both are being held without charge by police for investigation, after William L. Thibodeau, of Elgin, Ill., a special agent for the Railway Express company, seized them after he saw them take the package from an Illinois Central railroad transfer platform.

Invitations have been sent to various leaders in the county, representing both rural and urban areas in the natural community. It is expected that about 60 persons will attend the conference. The public and anyone interested in the institute are invited to attend.

Wednesday at 2 p. m., Arthur Bromage will discuss revision of county government, with the group and, at 4 p. m., William Robinson will hold group meetings on recreation problems and John Hyde the same for the community planning group. Professor Hyde will not be in Escanaba for the second day of the institute and will probably confer Wednesday morning also.

A dinner meeting at 6:45 with guest speaker will be held Wednesday evening. The following day the conference will be resumed at 9 a. m., with a discussion of county government. At 10:30 community planning and recreation will be discussed. The formal conference will close with a luncheon at 12:30 with Professor Guy Hill addressing the group.

Consultants will meet from 2 to 5 Thursday afternoon by appointment with various groups to help on specific problems.

The Escanaba conference planning committee will meet Feb. 4, at 12:15, to draft further plans for the institute. Further information may be obtained by calling Charles Folio, University of Michigan Extension Service director in the Upper Peninsula, at 2129.

Home-Made Devices Save Big Crop Of Premature Babies

Boise, Idaho, (AP)—An electrical firm came to the rescue of St. Luke's hospital and two of its youngest patients—constructing two incubators needed to care for a bumper crop of premature babies.

The situation occurred when five premature babies arrived in quick succession. The hospital had two incubators and was able to borrow another from St. Alphonsus hospital.

So G. L. McKelvey of a lighting company ordered four electricians and sheet metal workers to drop regular work and construct the incubators. Ten hours later the home-made incubators were delivered—unpainted but warm comfortable "homes" for two youngsters.

A semi-automatic, electrically-operated washer has been devised in which giant locomotives can be scrubbed, rinsed and polished in 15 minutes.

County Unemployed Increase By Nearly 100 Since December

Unemployment in Delta county is increasing according to information received from Whitney R. Dixon, local office manager of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission. During the past several weeks a large number of new claims for unemployment compensation benefits have been filed by claimants who have been laid off for lack of work.

At present there are no indications that this unemployment will decrease in the very near future, but that the load will stay at the present level or even increase slightly.

The actual number of unemployed in Delta county has steadily increased from 577 in December, 1947 to 668 in January, 1948 according to James M. Damitz, manager of the local Michigan State Employment Service, a division of the MUCC. The January total of jobless includes about 400 veterans and 268 non-veterans. Of these two groups approximately 70 are women.

Post holiday lay-offs in retail stores, shortages of basic materials, and cessation of ore shipping, all contributed to the increase. Several manufacturing plants are beginning to call back employees, but the anticipated labor demand for the next 60 days is not sufficient to reduce current unemployment to any great extent.

In Schoolcraft County, which is also served by the Escanaba office, the number of unemployed increased from 122 in December to 157 in January. Not included in this total, but never-the-less unemployed, at least temporarily, are about 300 individuals who are out of work because of a labor dispute.

Announce Regional Conservation Staff

When the conservation department converts from statewide to regional operation February 1, the three new regional chiefs, veteran conservation workers themselves, will each have a staff of veteran conservation specialists in his regional headquarters. All but three of the 18 men on the chiefs' staffs already have had experience as regional supervisors for divisions in the statewide administrative system. Regional administration, as adopted by the conservation commission, is designed to provide faster and more efficient service to the public through regional consideration of conservation matters of local, district and regional significance.

Regional staff of the Marquette office is as follows:

Region I, the Upper Peninsula: chief, Dorias J. Curry; division supervisors: Bernard Stephansky for field administration, Donald Zettie for forestry, Max Wakeman for game, Stanley Shust for fish, Glenn Gregg for parks, Paul Challancin for education. Shust is moving from Thompson to Marquette. Stephansky, formerly Curry's assistant, is replacing Curry as regional supervisor of law enforcement and forest fire operations.

Mahatma Gandhi

THE ASSASSINATION of Mahatma Gandhi in India yesterday removes from the world political and spiritual scene a man who has accomplished more for the advancement of his people than any man of recent generations.

It is extremely unfortunate that Gandhi's life was snuffed out at a time when he was most needed in his native India. Only recently his great spiritual influence was brought to bear to halt the communal riots that followed the establishment of independence of India for which Gandhi worked so devotedly for so many years.

Gandhi preached a doctrine of non-violence and proved that the killing of humanity is not necessary to attain the objectives of national life. In fact, it was his unswerving devotion to that principle that ultimately led to his own assassination by a fellow Hindu, who was not converted to Gandhi's philosophy of life and let live. The only redeeming feature of the mahatma's assassination is, of course, the fact that he was killed not by a Moslem, bitter foe of the Hindus, but by a Hindu, one of Gandhi's own people. Assassination of Gandhi by a Moslem would certainly have set off a pogrom of horrifying proportions. Even now, with Gandhi removed from the scene, the danger of a resumption of civil warfare in India and Pakistan is intensified.

Gandhi was not just an apostle of good for the people of India. He preached a program of peace and friendship for all of the world.

Supervisors Oppose Change

WITHOUT CONSIDERING the merits of Governor Sigler's recommendations for constitutional revision, it is easy to understand why the state association of supervisors voted to oppose it at their Lansing convention. Principally the supervisors oppose repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment since the townships which they represent get a neat little windfall of cash, most of it unneeded, from this tax source.

It was not anticipated that the supervisors would go along with the governor's recommendation for repeal of the tax diversion amendment. No governmental agency likes to give up any of its tax sources and the supervisors are no exception.

The supervisors may have made a good point, however, in their criticism of Sigler for failure to publicize specific recommendations for constitutional change. The governor's stand on the tax diversion amendment is well known but many other changes that the governor may be interested in still are unknown to the public.

The resolutions committee of the supervisors association presented as one reason for opposition to revision of the constitution a fear that some of the more valuable provisions of the present constitution may be lost in the shuffle. Actually there should be small danger of this development if the specific proposals are well publicized and if the committee charged with the drafting of a new constitution does a conscientious job in reflecting public opinion. That in itself should hardly be a valid reason for rejecting constitutional revision in Michigan.

Tax Cut Assured

THE PREDICTION by Speaker Martin that an income tax cut this year is "in the bag despite presidential objections is tuneless music to the American people. Presumably any tax cut voted at the present session would be retroactive to Jan. 1. Rep. Knutson's bill, which has the backing of the Republican majority provides for a tax cut of about 6 1/2 billion dollars. While such a bill probably would get sufficient support in the House to override a presidential veto, a cut of this proportion may not get the two-third majority in the Senate. Sufficient numbers of Democrats have indicated that they would back a tax reduction bill of approximately four billions.

A presidential veto of any substantial tax reduction bill seems certain. Mr. Truman has proposed a flat $40 cut for each taxpayer but has insisted that this be offset by corresponding increases in the rates for corporations. Such a proposal has already been rejected without even the formality of a formal vote.

Under the circumstances the Republican majority in the end will probably have to settle for a tax cut bill of somewhat lesser magnitude than that proposed by Rep. Knutson but even a four billion dollar cut will be roundly welcomed by the American people.

Virtually all other countries have made sharp cuts in their wartime tax rates. The American public deserves no less treatment.

U. S. Pays The Freight

SENATOR BALL'S disclosure that Uncle Sam is paying the freight for at least eight agencies that have been classified as subversive by the attorney general shows the need for corrective action. In effect, the United States government is helping to support these agencies by permitting tax deductions to contributors to the subversive groups.

Tax deductions for political purposes are prohibited under the law but agencies that seek to hide their identity under the cloak of benevolence but actually are fronts for the spread of Communism get privileged treatment.

The treasury department says it has no power to separate "good" organizations from "bad" when making up its tax deductible list, but merely follows definitions in the law adopted by Congress.

Fortunately only a small percentage of the known subversive agencies have been able to gain admittance to the tax deductible list. The fact that the others have been denied this privilege shows that it is possible to shut off this federal assistance to subversive groups. The answer probably is to be found in adoption of new legislation which will close the legal loophole through which these agencies are now benefited.

Certainly the American people who are pouring out billions of dollars to check Communism abroad do not want to pay for the support of Communist-front agencies in our own country.

Other Editorial Comments

DOOR TO SUCCESS

(Wall Street Journal)

A well-known newspaperman was engaged by a Hollywood producer as technical adviser in a drama of newspaper life. He watched in amazement as reporters, true to movie tradition, rushed about waving sheaves of galley proofs.

"Why don't they calm down?" he asked. "Reporters never move that fast. And what in the world are they doing with all those proofs? Reporters never see galley proofs."

"They look impressive," explained the director.

The picture continued its hectic way. Reporters dictated headlines over the phone, ordered compositors to hold up the press, and periodically told off the editor. Dumbly, resignedly, the expert watched, drawing his $25 per day, plus expenses.

The newspaperman's fame spread. He was engaged by another studio. Only once, however, was his counsel needed. He noticed that when the camera was set up before the editor's office, the lettering on the door faced into the room. He mustered up courage to point out the error.

As workmen were changing the door, the newspaper expert heard the director say to his assistant: "Where did you get that guy? Say, he's invaluable!"

1848—1948

(Christian Science Monitor)

In 1848 the pot of gold at the end of the American rainbow was discovered in California. Then came the Gold Rush. This same year, 1848, was the year of revolutions in Europe, as though to signalize the publication of the Communist Manifesto by Marx and Engels—the bible of future revolt. Yet what started as left-wing or liberal revolution in France and Germany led quickly to the right-wing autocracy of Napoleon III and Bismarck.

Will the year 1948 see the beginning of a vast reconciliation between these two worlds—between the material wealth of America and the social unrest of Europe? Gold and revolution confront each other across an ocean. What is needed is not merely an American Century as Henry Luce paints it, or a Century of the Common Man as Henry Wallace envisions it, but a Century of Principle that dares to step beyond concepts of nation and class, right wing and left wing, New World and Old, to take co-operative action toward an indivisible good.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

SATURDAY TOWN MEETING

Cincinnati: Some friends insist on giving canapes an Americanized pronunciation with two syllables, as "KAN-apes." Please discuss the word.—M. D.

Answer: Canape is a French loan word. In French, canape and the plural canapes are pronounced the same, thus: ka-na-PAY. No authority known to me sanctions or even lists a two-syllable pronunciation. In Standard American canape is either KAN-uh-pay or kan-uh-PAY. The plural canapes is KAN-uh-payz or kan-uh-PAYZ.

Whittier: In such sentences as, "The dinner was real good," isn't "real" an incorrect substitute for "very"?—E. F.

Answer: Yes. One good authority labels it "a loose and uncultivated use."

Hollywood: Pegler recently used the expression "tantivy-yo-ho." What in the world is it?—Mrs. A. R. Pumpelly.

Answer: Tantivy is almost a museum piece. I have found it in one of my old and out-of-print dictionaries. Tantivy is explained as imitative of the notes of a hunting horn. As a noun it means "a rapid, violent gallop, a mixture of haste and violence." As a verb it means, "to go off in a hurry." Tantivy is pronounced: tan-TIV-ee.

Santa Paula: I often hear the expression "skid row." Please give derivation and meaning.—F. R. E.

Answer: The expression is "skid road."

Washington.—The day after Gen. of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower issued his historic statement saying he could not accept nomination for president, one of his friends asked him if he had ever had an abscessed tooth. Puzzled by the question, Eisenhower replied he had never gone through that painful experience.

Childs

That is just how the general feels today. He acted in accord with the deepest dictates of his conscience. And the fact that his decision has been accepted by almost everyone, although reluctantly by most, confirms him in his conviction that he did the right thing.

The general had intended to wait to make his statement when he retires as chief of staff next month. But on the Sunday morning that the Gallup poll showed him leading all other Republican candidates and also President Truman, Eisenhower decided it was necessary to act at once. With a national Eisenhower-for-President organization being formed, too many people were tying their hopes to what the general had all along believed to be impossible. After ten days of effort to make what he wanted to say as clear and as emphatic as possible, the statement was issued.

Critical Of "Quickies"

At about the same time, Eisenhower was coming to another important decision. He was signing a contract to write his story of the war. Here, too, a struggle of conscience preceded the final step.

Eisenhower was being critical of some of the "quickie" war books. He feels they have contributed chiefly to bickering and irritation.

Yet, at the same time, his study of past wars made it clear to him that future historians would turn to these personal memoirs as one of the most important and most easily accessible sources of knowledge. So he was persuaded it was essential for him to write his story.

He has already catalogued his extensive notes. Those notes go back to Gibraltar. When General Ike went there to plan the landing in North Africa in the fall of 1942. He has even begun the writing of his story.

Now, in the two months of "vacation" between his retirement as chief of staff and May 1, when he will go to Columbia university, he hopes to complete the writing job. Then, in order to insure the most thorough authenticity, the manuscript will be turned over to a professional historian who had no part in the events described in the book.

The historian, with the help of one of the general's wartime aides, will check every statement against the official communications and reports. From the beginning Eisenhower insisted on this kind of annotation. He hopes this will help him to keep away from any charge of partisanship and will result in an account of the war that will be personal and yet objective.

At the same time that the political pressure was on, Eisenhower was being deluged by offers from publishers and editors. Naturally the financial arrangement he was able to work out had something to do with persuading him to write, particularly since, under the terms of his contract, he will be able to do the kind of book he believes should be done.

$750,000 FOR BOOK

Under the contract, Eisenhower will sell the copyright on his work outright for a lump sum. In New York that sum is reported to be $750,000. The publisher, in whom Eisenhower has great confidence, will then farm out secondary rights.

According to present plan, a New York newspaper will syndicate the book to newspapers around the world. If the present plan is followed, there will be no magazine publication prior to the appearance of the book.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue informed Eisenhower that, on the basis of past precedent, outright sale of the copyright constitutes the sale of a capital asset—the story of a life, accumulated through the years. Therefore the general will pay a tax at the capital-gains rate of 25 per cent rather than the income-tax rate of 85 per cent in the top bracket. It means he will have a sizable sum left after taxes.

In Roger Butterfield's remarkable book, "The American Past," is a photograph of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant at the end of his life. As president, the general had been deceived and defrauded by scheming political friends. When the photo was taken, the dying Grant was trying desperately to finish his memoirs so he could repay a debt of honor and perhaps leave a little money for his family. Can anyone doubt that Eisenhower, in the wake of a greater and more terrible war, has made a wise choice? That is true particularly when one looks at the reasons behind the decision.

It means, "a skid-way; a road along which logs are dragged." Also, "that part of a town where loggers congregate."

Milwaukee: During my English class I was asked to find the origin of "potboiler" as used in connection with books. Will you help me, please?—E. H.

Answer: A potboiler is any piece of work hurriedly and carelessly turned out for a quick profit. Specifically, a potboiler is a book, painting, musical composition, or the like, hastily done in order to keep the pot boiling, i. e., to provide only for one's immediate living expenses, and not with the idea of creating anything of enduring artistic worth. Such an artist or writer is also spoken of as a potboiler—one whose main concern is to keep the pot boiling.

Shucks, Just as the Race Was Starting

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

NEW AND STRANGE.—Not more than a week ago we were telling a friend of ours how we had weathered the winter without becoming the victim of a cold.

Dunathan

And as we talked about it, we tapped gently on wood to ward off bad luck. We should have tossed salt over our left shoulder, and worn a white mask to keep away germs, besides knocking on wood. For a bag of us and laid us low with a malady we had never had before, which is saying a lot for any germ. Anyway, this infection was in the pharynx, a membrane, or muscular sac at the top of esophagus. That's where it is in the book. In a man it is located back of the tongue and upwards of the Adam's apple. When this pharynx becomes infected the victim has all of the post-operative symptoms of tonsilectomy, without the satisfaction of knowing that something had been aken out.

NOT UNUSUAL.—And so we went to the doctor, believing that he would find we had some rare malady that might take weeks and several packages of serum to cure. We could picture the headlines: "Airplanes and dogtags rush serum to Escanaba! Rare disease grips columnist!"

In the doctor's office we saw Deputy Sheriff Clarence (Cully) Johnson and Sgt. Phil Bruce of the Escanaba police department. We knew that Cully had been croaking around with a throat ailment for some time, but Sgt. Phil looked very healthy and happy. He told us, confidentially, that he has taken off some weight and feels better than he has in months. We agreed that he certainly appeared to be bright-eyed and pink-cheeked, and that it was nice to be in a doctor's office only on a routine business about glasses.

Finally we were ushered in to see the doctor, or rather, to have the doctor see us. We kept thinking of the rare malady we must be a victim of, and the serums that would have to be brought in by dog team and airplane. But the doc just peeked and sprayed and announced that ours was the third or fourth case of its kind he had seen that morning.

"It's going around," he said, matter-of-factly.

RECOLLECTIONS.—The last time we had such throat discomfort was quite a number of years ago when we had our tonsils out. We had always been fearful of tonsil operations. When we were a boy and lived in a small town where everyone knew where the doctor went, and what he did there, we heard about Clarence. The story went the rounds like wildfire, up one street and down the other.

Clarence had Enlarged Tonsils, and the Doctor had Decided to Operate. You didn't go to the Hospital in the City for Tonsils, and so Clarence had been Given Either on the Kitchen Table. There was a Hemorrhage and it was Awful, but Of Course, everyone knew That Clarence Had Never Been Very Strong.

Clarence must have had considerably less strength after the tonsilectomy, for they had a funeral and buried him.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.—With the story of Clarence like a dark shadow hovering over our young mind, it's small wonder that we did not have our tonsils out until we were in our twenties. And even at that more mature age it required courage. But our tonsils were so badly in need of removal that the doctor was afraid he might not be able to salvage anything to prove the necessity for the operation. It was now or never. We decided on "a local" anesthetic under the supposition that if the knife slipped past the local into the general, we'd still be around to protest.

And so we sat around with our throat anesthetized while the doc sawed out what felt to us to be several tonsils and a fine assortment of gliblets. After the operation our throat closed up as tight as the front door of a bank at 3 p. m. and it wouldn't reopen for regular business, including food, for a couple of days. And it was more than a week before we recovered from the shock of forcing anything huskier than warm milk down our tonsiless gullet. But the doc said it was a good, clean job, and seemed to take as much pride in it as if he had grown those tonsils himself.

MINOR AILMENT.—Ever since those days we have looked upon sore throats, including pharynx and larynx, as something bordering on a major disability. The medical profession, however, seems to consider such things as not unusual, because so many are afflicted with them. We have always received kind and courteous and thorough treatment for our sore throats, but no sympathy.

We suppose it is a minor ailment and something that should not cause too much alarm. After all, it is little more than a painful and spasmodic constriction of the throat when an effort is made to swallow. Really nothing to worry about. Except that if it continues very long the owner of the throat becomes very, very hungry. Over a period of time this hunger becomes acute and death may follow within a few weeks. Fortunately, we recovered within a day or so, which probably proves it was a minor ailment.

New York, (AP)—The headlines scream:

"Man shoots wife, slays lover."

"Rich hubby trapped in love nest with blonde."

"High-living bank cashier flees with $35,000."

"War looms in Balkan friction."

And some readers get the idea that there is little in life except chaos and disorder. They overlook the fact that it would be a terrible world indeed if it became a matter of page one news every time someone found a man living a good life.

Lots Of Good People

Old Diogenes didn't need a lantern to find an honest man. All he needed was to wipe the windshield of his own cynicism.

The world is full of people who are basically good. If it weren't, the bad ones would lock up the good ones and murder and mayhem would be about as newsworthy as a scratched finger is today.

Philanthropy is as natural to man as hunger or toenails or sleep. If the ordinary man is only a two-bit Andrew Carnegie in the field of giving—why, it's because that's the best he can do. A newspaper doesn't print all the neighborly acts of kindness and anonymous deeds of good will that go on in its community every day because—among other reasons—there simply wouldn't be space for them.

But occasionally a story comes along illustrating the age-old goodness of people that is so dramatic it becomes news.

And such is the story of 15-year-old Marilyn Losby of St. Paul, Minn., and the townspeople who helped her to live.

Marilyn suffered from a rare disease called "coarctation of the aorta." This is an ailment which constricts the main arterial trunk line. Seeking to force the blood through, the heart becomes enlarged. Unable to carry on, it surrenders to death.

The girl was told only two doctors in the United States could operate and cure her. One was a surgeon in the Children's hospital in Boston. He agreed to perform the delicate operation—which consists of removing the small constricted section of the artery and sewing the two loose ends together again.

Columnist Starts Fund

But Marilyn and her widowed mother lacked money.

Marilyn went to work as a baby sitter. But the fund grew slowly, and each month of delay made her risk greater.

Then Paul Light, a columnist on the St. Paul Pioneer Press, learned of her case and published the facts.

"I don't know what's to be done about it," he told his readers. "I've merely given you the story. I thought it might interest you." It did. By nine o'clock next morning more than $2,000 for the operation fund had been contributed. The Elks lodge wanted to assume the whole costs. A trust fund was established.

Marilyn went to Boston. She needed the courage brought with her. For one so nearly grown it was a particularly difficult operation. It took five hours.

But she is alive and well today, one of the forty similar patients saved by the technique employed at Children's hospital. The operation actually was performed at Peter Bent Brigham hospital, an affiliated institution for older patients.

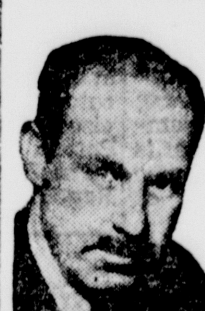

She owes her life to unknown friends who needed only to hear of her plight to come forward with help.

And they weren't even asking for first call on Marilyn's services as a baby sitter.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—When Chairman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan called his banking and currency committee together to vote on extension of the whisky holiday he swore every member to secrecy. Under no circumstances, he said, must the details of the debate be breathed outside the committee room.

Pearson

However, here is the story of the whisky debate that followed, together with another secret meeting, this one held by the big distillers. The distillers' meeting was held in order to make sure that the whisky holiday, due to expire this Saturday midnight, Jan. 31, would not be extended for another month. With the Senate favorable to an extension of the holiday, the distillers figured their only hope was to block the bill in the House banking and currency committee of which Congressman Wolcott is chairman.

Enthusiastically the Hiram Walker representative volunteered the information that he could control Wolcott. The Senate whisky-holiday extension would be blocked by Wolcott's committee, he said.

When Wolcott's committee met, here is what happened. G. O. P. Congressman Donald Nicholson, obstreperous Massachusetts freshman, sat down in Mike Monroney's seat near the head of the table and offered a resolution to table the whisky holiday. He did this even before the resolution extending the holiday was read. His motion ended in a tie vote.

Another Republican, Frank Sundstrom of New Jersey, tried to break the deadlock with a compromise extending the whisky holiday for thirty days but giving the distillers 4,000,000 bushels of grain per month instead of their present 2,500,000 bushels. This was flatly rejected. Republicans demanded that the whisky holiday be completely abandoned, while Democrats refused to budge above the present monthly grain quota.

UNCONTROLLED WOLCOTT

Chairman Wolcott, the man Hiram Walker said they could control, then launched into a fiery tirade against controls.

"If you are going to put controls on liquor," he exploded, "you will have to put controls on steel next. People are tired of controls!"

Democratic members fought back, led by Monroney of Oklahoma, Brooks Hays of Arkansas, Albert Rains of Alabama and Wright Patman of Texas. With the world starving, they said, Congress could not afford to put liquor ahead of bread.

They also reminded G. O. P. colleagues that the whisky holiday was all that was left of the Republican anti-inflation bill. The Senate bill had been heartily endorsed by Taft and not one Republican senator voted against it. Did the House Republicans intend to junk even this?

Alabama's Rains tried to push through a motion continuing the whisky holiday for one month with hearings to decide on a further six-month extension. But he got nowhere.

Finally Arkansas' Hays moved to vote the resolution out of committee and let the full membership vote on it. He lost, 12 to 9. All the Republicans except Stratton of Illinois voted to smother the bill in committee. Two Democrats joined them—Brent Spence of the big whisky state of Kentucky and Frank Buchanan of McKeesport, Pa. The loudest voices for the distillers were Wolcott, Nicholson and Sundstrom.

DEMOCRATS DEFEND BIG BUSINESS

Four Democrats bolted President Truman in the secrecy of the last closed-door ways and means committee session on taxes. They voted against cutting lower-bracket taxes and restoring partial excess-profits taxes on corporations.

The four Democratic backsliders were: Representatives Bob Doughton of North Carolina, Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Noble Gregory of Kentucky and Sidney Camp of Georgia. Doughton was the most vigorous in demanding relief for the high-bracket taxpayers.

"They've got to be considered the same as the lower brackets," argued the 84-year-old North Carolinian. "A man with four dependents under this plan would get a total exemption of $200. That's no relief for a big taxpayer."

TOUGH BUDGET TO CUT

Senate Republicans discussed the world's largest bankroll behind closed doors the other day and finally admitted that two billions is the most that can be trimmed off the president's domestic budget.

The senators gathered in the stately, marble caucus room, swung the ponderous doors shut behind them and sweated for two hours over their great problem of subtraction. The big voices, Polley-Chairman Bob Taft, Conference-Chairman Eugene Milliken of Colorado and Appropriations-Chairman Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, did most of the talking.

Taft urged that the Republicans set a certain figure and then trim the budget to try to meet it.

"At best," he admitted, "it would be an intelligent guess. But we should try to stay within it, recognizing, of

Legislators May Cut Off Veterans Unless Spending Is Mapped

BY JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, Jan. 31 (AP)—War veterans' organizations have received a blunt warning from legislators to put their house in order if they expect to continue receiving financial help from the state.

The attitude of the Senate Military Affairs committee and the state budget office, expressed at a conference with veterans' representatives, was that the state is in no financial condition to see money being poorly spent and that the ex-servicemen groups must work out a sensible plan or face a cut-off of state funds.

The committee aimed largely at the handling and future of the $50,000,000 veterans trust fund, consolidation of state and local veterans' assistance programs and the overlapping service projects of the various competing veterans' organizations.

Both Senator John W. Fletcher (R-Centerville) chairman, and deputy budget director C. J. McNeill warned:

"Veterans, especially those of World War II, should not go along thinking the trust fund is a permanent thing. It can be confiscated by any legislature and spent on a minute's notice. If you don't get together and decide on a sensible program the fund is threatened."

Both Fletcher and Senator Perry W. Greene (R-Grand Rapids) a committee member, advised the veterans to re-study their need for state subsidies for veterans' organizations.

"That is a very controversial question," Fletcher said. "You should be warned the time is not very far distant when it will be very difficult for any organization to get any money out of the state. Either at this next session or next year, the state is going to have a deficit and you may suffer."

And Greene went even further, asserting that the veterans organizations should investigate the possibilities of coordinating or centralizing their so-called "service" programs—that is, the job they do in helping veterans straighten out their problems, largely with various governmental agencies.

The statements of the two senators were considered important because both are ex-servicemen themselves and both have been in the forefront of previous legislative fights to assist the veterans.

The 1947 legislature went contrary to the advice of budget and administrative officials in granting state aid to veterans organizations and in dipping into the trust fund for departmental uses.

Now it is believed significant that two of the leaders in that school of thought are talking of caution.

They would be the first to admit they have tackled a difficult subject.

Most veterans organizations reportedly are willing to permit the $50,000,000 trust fund to be loaned to the public schools for building purposes, provided the income from the fund is protected.

But the consolidation of state veterans' agencies proved a stumbling block last year and the question of consolidating the service programs of each veterans' organization looks like an insurmountable obstacle.

Greene put his finger on it when he said that in many communities five separate veterans' organizations are competing to help the individual veteran—and doing it at least partially with state subsidies.

But to ask the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, AMVETS, Disabled American Veterans and others to join forces is to ask them to toss away one of the biggest selling points they have. Admittedly, they provide the service to any veterans, not to just their members, but it still is regarded as a fine opening wedge for new members.

The point of attack in the system is that at the same time the state and local governments are financing similar services for veterans, through the local counseling centers directed by the state office of veterans affairs.

All this is costing the taxpayers about $400,000 from the state treasury and more from county and city treasuries.

Veterans' organizations seem agreeable at this point to consolidating the office of veterans affairs and the trust fund board of trustees on the state level, but there is argument over carrying the same consolidation through to the local level of government.

At that point, the centralization runs into the local posts of the veterans organizations and into the soldiers' and sailors' relief commissions which have substantial political backing.

Veterans' leaders concede there is duplication of effort among all those agencies, all drawing all or part of their funds from tax dollars.

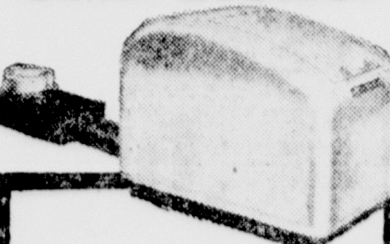

The veterans organizations have agreed to meet in Detroit Feb. 7 to seek a unification of ideas for the guidance of the Senate committee.

If they can achieve that, the legislature would seize it gladly because it doesn't want to offend the ex-servicemen vote. But if no agreement on a sensible consolidation is reached the pressure of state finances may force a curtailment, willy-nilly.

Manistique News

American Legion—
Auxiliary Offer
Scholarships

Attention is being called to students of Manistique High school to a number of very attractive scholarships being awarded through the Michigan Department of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Eligibility requirements vary—some are restricted to sons or daughters of honorably discharged veterans or deceased veterans while others depend solely upon recommendations and scholarship ratings.

Among former students enjoying the privileges of these scholarships is Miss Beverly Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peters, who is now a student at Northern Michigan College of Education at Marquette.

Any student interested should contact either Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pavlot, heads respectively of the local Legion or Auxiliary units.

Town Folks Also
Welcome To Farm
And Home Show

A cordial invitation to everyone in Manistique to attend the Farm & Home Show at the Old Gymnasium next Wednesday afternoon, is extended by Clayton Reid, county agricultural agent.

While this show is presented primarily in the interest of people of the rural areas, says Mr. Reid, there is much to see that will provide pleasure and profit to men and women who don't even keep a garden.

There are many types of home-craft that will be on exhibition—better and easier ways to get things done, ways to improve the appearance and convenience of the average home along with an interesting look at agriculture as it is carried on today—all of which appeal to everyone. For that reason, town folks as well as farmers are welcome.

Winter Carnival In Full Swing

BIG WEEKEND
IS ARRANGED

Ball This Evening At Gym And Races Sunday
At Park

Colorful ceremonies will mark the coronation of Miss Bette Hesp as Queen of Gladstone's 1948 Winter Sports Carnival at the annual carnival ball to be held in the Gladstone high school gymnasium.

The gym will be attractively decorated for the occasion. Leo DeRoock and his orchestra will play the dance program. Dancing is from 8:30 to 12. The coronation will be at 10:30 o'clock.

Mayor Albert Buckman will place the crowns on the heads of Queen Bette and Winter King John Lundmark. Queen Bette will be attended by Marilyn Stock, Martina Peterson, Dolores Bouillon, Joyce Lindahl, Eileen Davis and Donna Mae Lundahl as members of her court.

Supt. of Schools Wallace C. Cameron will serve as master of ceremonies.

Races Sunday
A program of ski races and a snowshoe game between the Gladstone and Rock Lions clubs will be held on Sunday afternoon. The Swedish club trophy race, a cross country event which begins on the north bluff and ends at the ski park, will start at 1:30 o'clock, simultaneously with the junior one-mile at the sports park.

Alarie Castor, Brampton, has won the event two years in a row and if he repeats this year will have permanent possession of the trophy. The first cup put up by the club went to the late George Lindberg, who was killed in World War II.

The junior girls one-mile for girls under 15 will be held at 2 o'clock.

The ladies' 2-mile for the Lions club trophy will begin at 2:30. Mrs. Edward Blair was last year's winner. The men's 2-mile cross country will begin at 2:45.

Snowshoe Ball
In the snowshoe ball game between the Rock and Gladstone Lions clubs, the former will be out to avenge last year's defeat and regain possession of the county title. Snowshoe ball is softball played on snowshoes, a sport originated by Rolland Hale, and is a great crowd drawer.

Officials want the members of both teams to report to the clubhouse at 2:45 in order to be ready to start the game promptly at 3 o'clock.

Ski races will be resumed at 4 o'clock with the Dr. Hult trophy race, an obstacle event won a year ago by Alarie Castor and the program will wind up with the senior slalom for the Granberg trophy. Dick Skoglund won this trophy a year ago.

In the various trophy events as well as the other races there will be prize awards.

The Rotary club is furnishing three prizes to the winners in the obstacle race. They are a woolen ski jacket, metal ski poles and ski binders.

Tows will be operated during the day for those wishing to ski and lunch will be served at the clubhouse.

Wells Youth Shoots .22
Bullet Into Big Cable

Investigation by Michigan State Police discloses that promiscuous firing of a .22 caliber rifle by a 12-year-old Wells youth has resulted in disruption of phone service to many patrons at Wells and Groos.

A shot was fired into the lead covered cable which houses many phone lines and it severed and shorted a large number of phone services.

Repairing such damage costs to the neighborhood of $200. Sgt. Willard W. Wixom, commander of the Gladstone post, said he was advised by the phone company.

This has happened previously in the same area, police stated.

Cooperation of parents in preventing a recurrence of the incident is asked by the state police.

Rounding out twenty-five years as instructor in Manistique high school and being in the thick of that institution's curriculum and extra-curricular activities is the experience and record of William Cook, mathematics instructor, athletic director and consultant, and mainstay in much that is going on there.

The completion of this important milestone in school work was elaborated on in the current issue of The Crier, official publication of Manistique High School, where in an interview, Mr. Cook says, in part:

"During my 25 years here, I have had numerous occasions to coach activities, Hi-Y work, and on special occasions, to observe other schools in sessions and also hold consultation with numerous faculty members from other schools; and, I find that Manistique has sent forth boys and girls who have measured up to the standards of the best schools in the country. If fact, Manistique has almost continuously, during this period, enjoyed the highest rating which the North Central Association of Secondary Schools could offer."

Mr. Cook graduated from Carroll College, Waukegan, Wis., in 1923, where he majored in mathematics, economics and commerce, where he received a BA degree, which according to the Crier "equipped him with knowledge enough to teach fourteen subjects, which included physics, plane and solid geometry, business English, commercial law, trigonometry, U. S. history, bookkeeping, general science, shop, track, football and basketball."

Looking backward, Mr. Cook states that back around 1923, every student had to buy all his text books and the enrollment of Manistique high school was 370, but once dropped down as far as 267 and put the school in Class C. The number of students enrolled from the country was only six and these six had to walk to school every day because school buses were unknown at that time.

Vaccine Against Poultry Disease
Being Developed

Amherst, Mass., (SS)—A new vaccine to protect poultry against Newcastle disease, one of the most destructive of poultry maladies, has been developed by scientists at the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station. It is prepared from a low-potency virus, and inoculated by the thrust of a small needle into the wingweb—the so-called "stick method."

Success with some 12,000 chicks is reported. Immunity was tested with a potent virus from one to three months after vaccination, and all the young chickens survived.

It has been found possible to combine this vaccine with another, against fowl pox, and thus give the birds double protection with a single vaccination.

CARD OF THANKS<

Gala Ice Varieties Of 1948 To Be Presented Here Next Week

FEATURED SOLOIST—Miss Lorraine Gardner, 15-year-old Escanaba figure skater, has the unique distinction of being in a featured role in her first appearance in the Escanaba show, premier ice revue of the Upper Peninsula to be presented at the state fairgrounds ice rink next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Lorraine, an Escanaba high school student, is a featured soloist in the military number. She will lead the baton twirlers and present a solo number. The military number, incidentally, has a cast of 33 and is one of the outstanding line numbers of the Ice Varieties of 1948.

Cast Of 200 Skaters To Perform In Varied 20-Act Rink Program

Upper Peninsula's premier ice skating show—the Escanaba Ice Varieties of 1948—featuring a cast of more than 200 skaters in a 20-act program that includes seven special line numbers and many varied solo and pair figure skating numbers will be presented in the gaily-decorated indoor ice rink at the state fairgrounds next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

There will be four night performances, beginning at 8:15, and a special Sunday matinee show. Tickets are being sold in several communities throughout the Upper Peninsula, and capacity or near-capacity crowds are anticipated for each performance. The show has the reputation of being the best all-amateur local talent ice revue in this section of the country.

A complete dress rehearsal of the show, which has been in production for several weeks, will be held at the rink tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1:30. All participants, including property men, are asked to be there promptly at 1:30.

Hawaiian Finale—The Hawaiian number, an elaborate finale featuring the skating of 45 performers, will hold a special rehearsal at the indoor rink at 6 this evening. Jeanette LeCaptain, directress of the 1948 show, announced this morning. The 1948 Ice Varieties gives every promise of exceeding in precision, and variety of performance any previous show. Annually, the ice revue is received with a great deal of interest and enthusiasm by winter sports devotees in this section of the Upper Peninsula, and that it has attained its high reputation in the U. P. constitutes a tribute to the efforts of members of the Escanaba Figure Skating Club, who stage the show each season.

100 Committee Workers—Dr. Harold Q. Groos is general chairman of the 1948 revue, and Art Goulais is co-chairman. Committee chairmen are Mrs. Dolores Groos, costumes; Abe Herro, lighting; Fred Johnson, properties; Dr. L. P. Groos, seating; Ewald Beck, music; Harry J. Gruber, tickets and finance; Art Goulais, advertising; Larry Girard, publicity; and Claude Tobin, transportation.

In addition to the huge cast of 200 competent skaters who have been polishing their performances for several weeks, approximately 100 persons are either working on costumes, making costumes, constructing properties, handling ticket sales and doing any one of a hundred odds and ends that must be done to make the show a big success and, it is anticipated, "bigger and better than ever before."

The seven line or group numbers are expected to constitute a conspicuous highlight in this year's show. They have been designed and produced with an eye for the spectacular, and it is fully expected that they will be a "big hit."

Miss Johnson Soloist

The opening number, for instance, is a gala show in itself with the Indian motif predominating. Seventy-five skaters will appear in this number, all in costume; the Escanaba high school drum and bugle corps in its colorful costumes will be featured, and the soloist skater will be Carolyn Johnson, of Escanaba, who is appearing in the show for the first time.

She has had a good deal of professional training, has practiced diligently for her figure skating debut and will wear a spectacular costume. Rehearsals have proved that this extravagant number is sure to get the show off to a rousing and fast-moving start.

Another colorful group number is the Easter parade, in which 30 youngsters from four years of age to third-grade will participate, all in costume and all trained for a bit of precision skating that is sure to warm the hearts of all spectators.

A fast number that will give young people of junior and senior high school an opportunity to perform is the Club 314 specialty, to which Jeanette LeCaptain has given particular attention this season through her work at Club 314.

Jitterbug Number

She has directed the young people in a jitterbug number on skates that is novel and interesting to watch. Spectators are sure to enjoy watching the young people perform intricate jitterbug routines—on ice skates. Thirty-five will participate in this number.

A cast of 33 will perform in the military number, another group specialty, and a surprise is in store in the "black light" Hawaiian closing number, in which 45 persons will participate.

Adding a touch of variety to the skating show will be a barber shop quartet from the Escanaba chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing in America. The barbershoppers will sing the Hawaiian words to the Hawaiian War Chant, the music for the final number in which Jeanette LeCaptain will be soloist.

Detailed information about participants in other line numbers and as soloists and pairs in all numbers in the 20-act program will be published early next week.

The 1946 crop of commercial apples, more than 121 million bushels, was slightly more than the 1935-1944 average.

LEO THE LION—Two comedy skaters of considerable renown in the Upper Peninsula are Gene and John Hebert, of Escanaba, who will present their Leo the Lion act as a feature comedy performance in the Ice Varieties of 1948. Escanaba's popular ice show, to be shown here next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There will be four night shows and a matinee performance Sunday. Gene and John—that's Gene on the left—have appeared before as Ferdinand the Bull and a variety of animal acts. This year, it's a lion and quite a ferocious one, as you can see above.

SNOW MODEL CONTEST HERE

Individual, Commercial And Group Classes; Prizes Offered

Another feature of the winter sports program in Escanaba, which is highlighted by the Ice Varieties of 1948 to be presented at the indoor rink next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, is the snow modeling contest sponsored by the recreation department.

"We want as many persons as possible to enter this contest, which will help to beautify the city and create a winter recreation atmosphere for Ice Revue week and the remainder of the winter," George Grenholm, city recreation director, said yesterday.

"Three contests are to be held, one for individuals, one for group entries and another for commercial entries," he pointed out.

Students of grade school age especially are asked to enter the individual and group contests. Prizes will be awarded to the five best snow models constructed in the city.

Special awards will be given to school groups constructing large snow models.

The contest will continue the entire month of February.

Washing machines kept in a cold, place, such as an outside porch, should be brought into a warm room several hours before using. Otherwise, the oil or grease in the machine may become stiff and the starting load may blow a fuse in the circuit.

U. S. Speed Skate Meet Opens Today; 3 Escanaba Entries

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 31 (AP)—The national speed skating championships open a two-day program at Lake Como here today with five of the winners in last week's North American events seeking additional laurels. The national is being held in connection with St. Paul's annual winter carnival.

The titles in every classification but one were wide open for the taking. Ken Bartholomew, Minneapolis, can't defend his senior men's crown, being in Europe as a member of the United States Olympic team. Gerry Scott, Minneapolis, last year's senior women's champion, has given up competition.

Escanaba, Mich., entries are Betty Lundeen, Barbara Marchette and Howard Person.

Kennett Square, Pa., Jan. 31. (AP)—Baseball pays its last respects Monday to one of the game's greatest pitching stars and most beloved executives — southpaw Herbert J. Pennock.

The 53-year-old general manager of the National League's Philadelphia Phillies died yesterday in New York of a cerebral hemorrhage. He will be buried down in the farm country of Chester county.

Creamed codfish makes a convenient Friday night supper dish. To prepare one-half salt codfish may be used; it should be soaked in cold water for four to six hours, then drained and cooked in fresh water for 15 to 20 min. It may then be shredded and added to the cream sauce.

Grade School Winter Sports Play-Day Set For Saturday, Feb. 14

Escanaba grade school students will participate in the annual Escanaba Winter Sports Play-Day events at Royce park Saturday, Feb. 14, beginning at 1, sponsored by the city recreation department and the Bay de Nocquet Speed Skating club, it was announced yesterday by George Grenholm, city recreation director.

A full day of winter sports activities is being planned, climaxed by speed skating races open to all grade school students in the city at the 19th street rink at Royce park Saturday afternoon.

Winter Olympics Continue on Rocky Path; AHA Six Wins

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Jan. 31 (AP)—Norway and Sweden won the first gold medals in the dissection-plagued fifth winter Olympics today as the bitter hockey war continued to rage.

Despite an international Olympic committee order cancelling the sport, the hockey tournament continued and the amateur hockey association team of America, beaten in its opening start yesterday, swamped Poland, 23 to 4.

Twenty-one year-old Finn Helgesen of Oslo, Norway, captured the 500-meter (547 yards) speed skating title in 43.1 seconds, cracking the Olympic mark by three-tenths of a second.

Two United States skaters—Robert Fitzgerald and Kenneth Bartholomew, both of Minneapolis—also bettered the record of 43.4 in tying Thomas Byberg of Norway for second place. Their time was 43.2.

Sweden's Martin Lundstroem won the gruelling 18-kilometer (a little more than 10 miles) cross country ski race on one hour, 13 minutes and 50 seconds. The event was dominated by Swedish and Norwegian skiers.

"In addition to the races, many events are being arranged," Grenholm said. "All grade school students will have the opportunity of participating in some event. The school winning the largest number of points in the skating meet will win the skating trophy, which is awarded annually."

"Individual prizes also will be awarded to winners in the various winter sports events."

Children may enter in the following classes: Primary, up to eight years of age; cradle, eight and nine years of age; midjet, 10 and 11 years of age, and juvenile, 12 and 13 years.

Events will be conducted separately for boys and girls in each of the following events: Obstacle race, one-skate race, 110-yard race, 220-yard race, 440-yard race for juveniles only backward race and the school relay. (Only boys teams, six skaters from each school, will participate in the school relay event.)

Alexander Seeks First Golf Title

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 31 (AP)—Be-spectated Stewart "Skip" Alexander, Mid Plains, N. C., will be shooting for his first major pro tournament victory when he takes off in the third round of the $10,000 Tucson open today with a one-stroke advantage.

Waiting to snatch the lead if the youthful ex-Duke University player falters in the sub-par pace of 67-63-130 he has set for the first 36 holes are most of golf-dom's biggest names.

Leading the contenders, a single stroke behind, is the veteran Ryder cup player Jimmy Hines of Chicago and Tucson. His rounds of 65-66 are nine strokes better than par.

Big Vic Ghezzi, former PGA open champ from Kansas City, Kas., might have led the parade except for an errant putter. As it is he has third place to himself with 67-65-132.

Eskymos Defeat Soo, 35 To 31; Gladstone Tipped By Ishpeming

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 31.—(Special)—The Escanaba Eskymos' smooth floor game and efficient passing attack paid off against Sault Ste. Marie's big height advantage here last night as the visitors defeated the Blue Devils, 35-31.

Soo, with at least five players on its squad well over six feet in height, banked on that advantage to win, firing long shots and then going in fast for rebounds, but the Eskymos worked the ball in for enough short shots to win going away.

The victors scored 12 field goals to 11 for the Soo and dropped 11 of 23 free throws to nine out of 16 for the home five. The Eskymos led almost all the way, Soo managing to tie it up twice in the first half. Escanaba led 10-9 at the quarter, 18-14 at the half and 28-24 going into the final session. Each team scored seven points in the finale.

With four minutes to go, and Soo rushing to salvage the ball game, the Eskymo floor game earned the respect of even rabid Soo fans. Quick passes to men breaking through as the Blue Devils came out to meet the Eskymos kept the visitors out in front.

Big Dietz, Soo forward, topped the scorers with 15 points. Dick Lough and Warren Gustafson each scored nine for Escanaba, and Ray Hinn added seven.

Q&A Service

By WS Bureau

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT!) MAIL THIS column and a recent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Escanaba Daily Press Service Bureau, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. C., for a personal reply. Don't telephone; write as directed.

Q. Why was the first Sunday in Lent called "chalk Sunday"?
A. Because of the common practice in Ireland of the young women, on that day, chalking the backs of young men who had not plighted their troth.

Q. Did the aspirants for the presidency in 1924 represent a number of political parties?
A. The aspirants were: John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, William H. Crawford, Henry Clay and John C. Calhoun. Nominally they all were Democratic-Republicans, although they represented different political theories.

Q. How can I restore the finish of some ribbons and laces which have lost their original luster through washing?

A. By dipping in skimmed milk or whey. However, be sure that the milk fats have been removed, since the fats would form grease spots. Stretch over a smooth surface and allow to dry. Do not iron. The odor of milk soon will disappear.

Q. If a veteran accepts a compensation check sent him by the Veterans Administration, does that indicate his acceptance of the present disability rating granted him and preclude his applying for a higher rating?
A. No. He may still apply for a higher rating.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Apparently the only definite result of all this Olympic hockey furore was to prove the accuracy of Tom Lockhart's prediction: "The A.H.A. hockey team will play in Switzerland, Period." It isn't surprising that the A.H.A. has received such strong support from European hockey leaders. In reporting that Finland likely will become the next hotbed of the game, Lockhart casually mentioned that his organization had shipped over complete equipment for 15 players contributions to other nations, not to mention providing financial and other support to ambitious kid teams in the U. S.

Up And Atkinson

Jockey Ted Atkinson, who booted home nine doubles in 13 days of the Hialeah meeting, has accomplished this feat largely by clever use of his whip—his weakness in the past... This winter Teddy has kept waving his bat under the eyes of his mounts... And apparently those nags in Florida are smart—when they go to bat for him.

Rumors in the Midwest have Johnny Woodin, former Purdue Basketball ace, moving back to his alma mater from Indiana State (Terre Haute) as head coach next season... Manager Blinky Palermo is campaigning for another fight between his boy, Billy Fox, and Gus Lesnevich to wipe the "stigma" from Fox's record... The Giants have sold their radio and television and fence - advertising rights to a cigarette company for $250,000. Now watch their smoke... Doug Higgins, who has been pacing the Texas Wesleyan basketball team in scoring on its eastern tour, averaged only 9.9 points a game in home territory this season... But maybe he likes low scores. He's one of the best amateur golfers in Fort Worth... The Montreal Canadiens' Jacques Lacombe is the only National Hockey League player who can't speak English... Hasn't learned a few words to use on referees?

Okay, Junior

Hoberly (Mo.) Junior college would like a little recognition for his 6-foot-3 (average) basketball team, paced by 6-7 Bill Gardiner, which has been averaging 58 points a game... And Kilgore (Tex.) NEGAUNEE FIVE TIPS EMERALDS

Miners Run Wild In 2nd Half To Post 61-39 Triumph

Manistique, Jan. 31—The Negaunee Miners went wild in the second half to defeat a hard-fighting band of Manistique Emeralds, 61-39, here last night. After trailing 14-10 at the quarter mark, the Emeralds came back to close the margin to 24-23 at halftime, but from then on it was well night a rout.

The Miners caught fire at the start of the second half and were still burning when Referee T. Chambers of Menominee blew the final whistle. They scored 17 points in the third period and 20 in the finale, while the Emeralds were manufacturing eight counters in each canto.

Clark did most of the scoring for the visitors. His 12 field goals and two charity tosses for 26 points easily topped the individual scorers.

For the third game in a row, the Manistique reserves lost by one point, 27-26.

BIG NIGHT FOR HARNISCHFEGGER

Local And Milwaukee Quintets Win; All Stars Bow, 57-40

'Twas a big night for the Harnischfeger corporation!

The local Harnischfeger stopped Cloverland college, 30-26, and their big brothers from Milwaukee ran into a hornet by the name of Mickey Kuehnberg but managed to tip the Escanaba all-stars, 57-40, in the feature game last night at the junior high gym.

Escanaba had the pleasure of 6-4 and 8-6 leads at the outset, but the Milwaukeeans went ahead, 11-9, at the quarter mark and stayed there, although the allstars outscored them, 12-10, in the third period.

"Bridegroom" Kuehnberg, who reaches five feet seven inches, tied for individual scoring honors with six-foot six-inch Warren. Each tallied 15 points.
